Dear SVS Families,

An interesting year would be an understatement for what was 2020. As we look back on the year and forward into 2021, it is important to take time to recharge and recognize what we are grateful for. Our community has chosen to respond, as it always does, and come together in support of its members and push forward through difficult times. I am proud of our community and our local school for the way we responded to the needs of our youth for education and citizenship. We safely allowed our youth to learn and grow through the activities that we value as a community. We value our heritage, our families, our skills, and our good character. These values translate into opportunities for children to be successful, safe, and develop skills from the school, and the home, that will serve generations. I am thankful for the community that I work, live and raise my own children in. In difficult times, I would choose no other place on Earth.

Mr. Jay Steeves
